THE REAL ESTATE (REGULATION AND DEVELOPMENT) ACT 2016 (RERA)

The Raiya Sabha passed the Real Estate Regulator Bill, which will help regulate the sector and bring in clarity for both buyers and developers. Here are 10 things you should know about this bill, touted as a key reform measure in the vast real estate sector.

- 1) It establishes the State Real Estate Regulatory Authority for that particular state as the government body to be approached for red ressal of grievances against any builder. This will happen once every state ratifies this Act and establishes a state authority on the lines set up in the law.
- 2) This law vests authority on the real estate regulator to govern both residential and commercial real estate transactions.
- 3) This Act obliges the developer to park 70% of the project funds in a dedicated bank account. This will ensure that developers are not able to invest in numerous new projects with the proceeds of the booking money for one project, thus delaying completion and handover to consumers.
- This law makes it mandatory for developers to post all information on issues such as project plan, layout, government approvals, land title status, sub contractors to the project, schedule for completion with the State Real Estate Regulatory Authority (RERA) and then in effect pass this information on to the consumers.
- 5) The current practice of selling on the basis of ambiguous super built-up area for a real estate project will come to a stop as this law makes it illegal. Carpet area has been clearly defined in the law.

6) Currently, if a project is delayed, then the developer does not suffer in any way. Now, the law ensures that any delay in project completion will make the developer liable to pay the same interest as the EMI being paid by the

- consumer to the bank back to the consumer.
- 7) The maximum jail term for a developer who violates the order of the appellate tribunal of the RERA is three years with or without a fine.
- 8) The buyer can contact the developer in writing within one year of taking possession to demand after sales service if any deficiency in the project is noticed.
- 9) The developer cannot make any changes to the plan that had been sold without the written consent of the buyer.

 This puts paid to a common and unpopular practice by developers to increase the cost of projects.
- 10) Lastly, every project measuring more than 500 square meter or more than eight apartments will have to be registered with the RERA.

STAMP DUTY AND REGISTRATION CHARGES

Every State government in India levies a tax on property transfer, referred to as stamp duty. These stamp duty charges vary as per the location, property type and ownership title. Here is all about the stamp duty and registration charges in Thane and the ways to calculate them.

Update: As per the latest announcement, the stamp duty in Thane has increased by one percent as the government is set to charge an additional percent as metro cess on property purchases, effective from April 1, 2022. Now, homebuyers in Thane will now have to shell out seven percent of the property's value as stamp duty charges.

In 2021, the Maharashtra government announced one percent rebate in stamp duty if a property is transferred only in the name of a woman. All women homebuyers in Thane will have to pay four percent as stamp duty. This rebate is not applicable to joint owners (Male and Female).

Earlier in March 2020, the Maharashtra government had announced one percent reduction in the stamp duty on properties under the Mumbai Metropolitan Region Development Authority (MMRDA) i.e. Thane, Navi Mumbai and Mumbai.

Home purchase does not end at finding and selecting a property, arranging the finances, and signing the sale agreement. In fact, to complete the end-to-end procedure of owning a home, one needs to register the property as well, so that it gets legally transferred under their name. For this, it is crucial to approach the Stamp Duty and Registration Department of the respective city. In Thane, Maharashtra, homebuyers need to approach the sub-registrar's office for the same. Property registration authorises the buyer as the legal owner of the property and protects them against all future conflicts. The property registration process in Thane is said to be complete only after one deposits the stamp duty and registration fees at the registrar's office. These charges form a crucial part of the State government's revenue, and hence, are levied on every property transaction executed in the State.

Stamp duty and registration charges in Thane

The current stamp duty rates in Thane stand at seven percent (including 1 percent LBT and 1 percent Metro Cess).

BREAKING THE GLASS CEILING

Among JP Infra's many firsts, the launch of the tallest towers in Mira Road certainly has its place of pride. It rounded off perfectly the variety of homes on offer at North Garden City, by appealing to every urban dweller's dream to soar above ground level, and get a bird's eye view of their city. Here, of course, those simple joys are further enhanced by the vista of green that is part of the panorama. North Garden City is set to bring the magic of the vast horizon and open skies into open airy spaces that add an extra layer of brilliance to everything you do.

HOT CAKE 2.0 BIGGER AND BETTER

The effects of the pandemic-induced recession began to subside in 2021. As a result, homebuyers were back in the market and looking for bargain deals. JP Infra has made a habit of serving up irresistible offers to customers, especially on modern homes in Mumbai's upcoming suburbs, like Mira Road. And as we entered the final quarter of the year, the company had a fresh new surprise up its sleeve, with the high profile launch of Codename Hotcake 2.0.

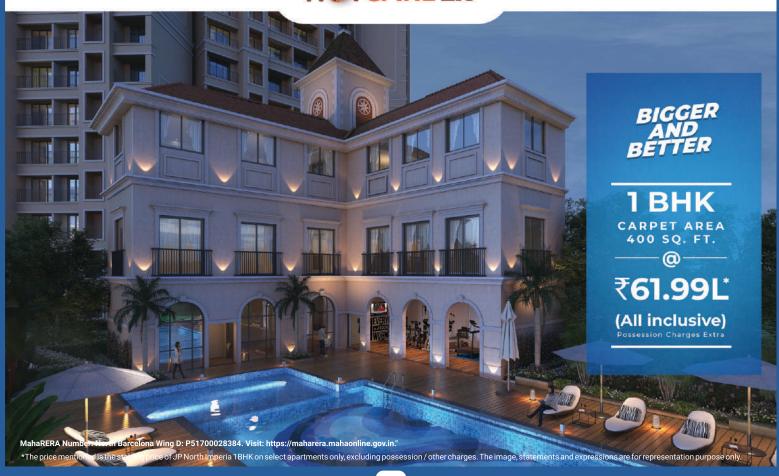

The first phase of the launch of Codename Hotcake had caused waves, because of heavy discounts being offered to homebuyers. It was also a great opportunity for aspirational families to establish a home in Mira Road East, which is fast developing into an urban paradise, thanks to the efforts of developers like JP Infra. The lower prices were an instant hit and saw a lot of traction among growing families and young professionals. The time then seemed right for JP Infra to expand their inventory, and offer another round of exciting discounts.

Codename Hotcake 2.0 was therefore unveiled, comprising 160 residential units, made up of both 1 and 2 BHK homes. This new set of residences came with a starting price tag of just Rs. 61.99 Lacs, capturing the imagination of the markets. At this price, it presented a Bigger and Better opportunity for prospective buyers to claim a piece of JP Infra's expanding catalogue of great homes. Immediately after the launch, JP Infra's sales offices were inundated with inquiries from interested buyers.

FIVE TOP REASONS TO USE A REALTOR WHILE RENTING YOUR PROPERTY

If you have recently invested in a property and are planning to put it up for rent, there are a few important decisions to be taken about how you intend to go about this process. One of the most critical decisions, of course, would be whether or not to employ the services of a Realtor or a Real Estate Consultant.

Employing a Realtor's services can make YOUR life easy!

Most property owners would question the usefulness of this option as a small chunk of your rental income from the property has to be shared with the realtor. However, it is worth considering the invaluable services a good Realtor would provide, which can be worth its weight in gold as compared to his fees. Since renting a property may involve considerable amount of time and energy being spent, you may not have both on hand, which can affect the leasing of your property.

There is a high level of commitment necessary and tremendous amount of legwork needed while renting out your property. The realtor is well versed in all the steps involved and thus is the most qualified person around to manage the entire process for you.

Real Estate Agent saves the property owner's time AND money

Let us look at the Top five reasons why you should consider working with a realtor while renting out your property:

A Realtor can engage with potential tenants while you are busy:

Frankly speaking, though you may be keen to lease your property at the earliest and earn a handsome income, please consider the time that you will need to spend. There is a lot of work that goes into the entire process and you may not be familiar with the same at all. Your realtor is born to manage tenants and since he interacts with them regularly, has a much better rapport than you could possibly build.

It is your realtor's responsibility to display your property to interested tenants after he has sourced them and this may be done at odd hours, possibly when you are busy at work or attending personal engagements.

High Visibility for your property is your Realtor's job:

A full-time real estate agent is on the job at all waking hours (sometimes later too) and will employ all the essential marketing techniques to keep your property highly visible to prospective tenants. While you go around doing other important stuff, your realtor will ensure the property remains at the top of the list and is quickly taken off the block.

Realtors have hawk's eyes to screen potential tenants

Once your property is put on the anvil for rental purposes, it is bound to attract dozens of "interested" parties which could include fake and bogus tenants too. You also receive the odd tenant who does not have immediate plans but yet wants to snoop around. A seasoned realtor is capable of seeing through all such facades and will save valuable time for you, not to mention a lot of future heartburn too.

A Realtor is the bridge between the Landlord and the tenant

There could be many instances when a lot of liaison may be required between both involved parties and the realtor can step into both the shoes if necessary. In case where the rent is delayed in a particular month or a few minor repairs that may be needed, your realtor can play the devil's advocate with both sides. This will save you a lot of back and forth communication and ensure minimum misunderstandings.

Climb the mountain of paperwork with your realtor as your "Sherpa"

There is a considerable (and I mean considerable) amount of paperwork that is involved while renting property like, legal agreements, maintenance contracts, police documentation etc. The realtor has rehearsed this multiple times and has very single format ready for use, so you are not taxed mentally and physically.

Engage with a Realtor and get a Property Manager for free!

To wrap up the discussion, by engaging a realtor, you entrust your property with a professional who has all the necessary information about your neighbourhood and has all the knowledge about the local market. This will help you in getting the right rental income and ensure your property does not remain vacant for a long time. Take that decision now and sit back and relax!
